FEBRUARY 2023

Gordon Rees Scully Mansukhani is celebrating the 5th anniversary of its Louisville, Kentucky office.

Our Louisville team has long-term established connections in Kentucky's local and business communities. The attorneys in the Louisville office work not only on construction disputes and counseling, but also advise on a broad range of legal issues for businesses whether they are doing business in Kentucky or across the country.

The Louisville office offers extensive expertise on various construction issues ranging from construction contracts, collection of unpaid amounts, OSHA violations, mechanics liens, workers' compensation immunity disputes, and prevailing wage disputes. The Louisville team also provides support to clients on their business transactions, commercial litigation matters, employment questions and disputes, and handles a wide array of insurance defense matters.

Led by office managing partner Angela M. Richie, our Louisville office offers unparalleled legal advice on a wide range issues facing businesses nationwide.
