OVERVIEW

Abigail “Abby” Kregor focuses her practice on representing businesses and individuals in complex civil litigation, including commercial disputes and professional liability matters. Abigail has wide experience defending insurers in coverage disputes and first-party bad faith actions, as well as representing insurance agencies and employers in a variety of claims. She also has a strong background in ERISA matters, handling disputes related to employee benefits and fiduciary obligations. Additionally, she advises and represents energy and utility companies in a diverse range of legal issues.

Abigail is an active leader in the legal community, serving as an Executive Council Member of the Colorado Bar Association’s Young Lawyers Division. Before joining GRSM, she gained valuable judicial experience as a law clerk for the Honorable Morris B. Hoffman of the Denver District Court, where she worked on a broad spectrum of civil litigation cases.

During law school, Abigail distinguished herself both academically and professionally. She earned the CALI Excellence for the Future Award in Litigation Skills and was recognized with the Outstanding Clinical Student Award for her exceptional work in her clinical program. She also served as the Senior Comments and Notes Editor for the Tulane Journal of Technology and Intellectual Property.
