OVERVIEW

Amir Hajimohammad is an Associate at the Alexandria office of GRSM. He is a member of the Commercial Litigation practice group, which represents business entities in various litigation matters such as wrongful termination, discrimination, retaliation, harassment, and effectively all contractual disputes in the commercial context.

Before joining GRSM as an Associate, Amir was a law clerk at the Alexandria Office for GRSM. He also volunteered at the Alexandria Commonwealth's Attorney's Office where he assisted in prosecuting a complex multi-state drug racketeering organization. Previously, he worked as a law clerk in one of the most preeminent family law firms in the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Area.

Amir graduated from The George Washington University Law School and completed the intensive Trial Advocacy College program led by Professor Stephen A. Saltzburg. He also served as a Judicial Intern for the Honorable Judge Harry C. Storm, Montgomery County Circuit Court.
