OVERVIEW

Angelina Sibeto focuses her practice on commercial litigation and healthcare matters. Before embarking on her legal career, she served as a registered nurse at an assisted living facility, where she was directly involved in patient care. This firsthand experience gave her invaluable insight into the intricate workings of the healthcare system, providing her with a strong understanding of the daily challenges and regulatory landscape that healthcare facilities navigate.

Angelina has experience defending clients against bodily injury claims, including case analysis, case development, and motion preparation. Her combined background in healthcare and litigation allows her to approach cases with a nuanced understanding of both medical and legal complexities, ensuring strategic advocacy for her clients.
