OVERVIEW

Elena Kuzminova is a Partner in the Dallas and Southern California offices of GRSM, practicing in the area of commercial litigation, privacy, internet, and technology law. She has extensive experience handling complex business matters, including contract and tort disputes; privacy, data breach, and cybersecurity litigation; as well as advertising, marketing, and digital matters. As part of her privacy and technology practice, Elena represents clients in matters arising out of the FTC Act, CCPA, CIPA, COPPA, and CDFA, and assists clients with compliance with privacy laws and regulations. In her practice, Elena has handled matters involving complex software systems, including Enterprise Resource Planning platform. She is actively engaged in defense of governmental investigations and claims related to data privacy, including legislative subpoenas, Department of Justice investigations, and administrative proceedings initiated by state attorneys general. Elena is also involved in handling class action litigation arising out of consumer protection statutes, unfair competition statutes, and privacy laws.

Elena's expertise includes all phases of litigation and complex dispute resolution process, in addition to general business counseling matters. She has represented clients in complex state and federal matters, involving claims for unfair business practices, invasion of privacy, breach of contract, tort, fraud, trademark infringement, indemnity, breach of fiduciary duty, and equitable claims, among others. Elena has guided clients through all aspects of the e-discovery process to maximize the efficiency and defensibility of their collection efforts and subsequent productions.

Before joining GRSM, Elena practiced at one of the largest construction boutique law firms in the United States and an AMLaw 100 firm in Orange County, California.
