OVERVIEW

Janet L. Thompson's practice is focused on providing strategic legal representation in appellate matters, commercial litigation, professional liability, and general litigation. She has extensive experience handling appeals in both state and federal courts, where she analyzes trial records, identifies legal errors, and crafts persuasive arguments to achieve the best possible outcomes for her clients. Janet advises clients on appellate strategy throughout underlying proceedings to ensure preservation of issues for appeal and positioning for favorable post-trial outcomes.

In addition to her appellate work, she represents businesses and professionals in complex commercial litigation and professional liability matters. Whether handling contract disputes, malpractice claims, or professional misconduct allegations, she takes a proactive and thorough approach to every case. With a strong foundation in both litigation and appeals, she provides clients with comprehensive legal support at every stage of the legal process.
