OVERVIEW

John Brooks represents and advises clients facing complex commercial litigation in state and federal courts in Texas.

Prior to joining GRSM, John began his practice defending clients against personal injury defense lawsuits. In that time, he worked with and advised a variety of clients ranging from Fortune 500 companies to family owned businesses in matters regarding fatalities, products liability, premises liability, and motor vehicle collisions. John has gained valuable insight and experience on the adversarial process through litigating a variety of cases from beginning to end throughout the State of Texas. This experience gives him the knowledge and skills necessary to provide each and every client with excellent and efficient representation.
