GRSM's office in Boise connects businesses, entrepreneurs, and corporations with our attorneys who manage national litigation portfolios and apply their local insights to clients' advantage. In recent years, the region has attracted new residents and commercial opportunities, and we have guided clients in making the most of the area's growth and development.

Highlights of our attorneys' full-service representation include notable practice depth in commercial litigation, construction, employment law, government contracts, professional liability defense, and education.

We are frequent collaborators with GRSM colleagues throughout the state and the region. Our Boise attorneys are active in the Idaho State Bar, and many attorneys are licensed in several jurisdictions, such as Washington, Oregon, Montana, and California.
