Located in North San Diego County, our Carlsbad office is a vital part of our Southern California network and 50 state platform. Established in 2012, the office offers both convenience and legal depth to clients and colleagues focused on business transactions, litigation, and counseling.

The region is known as a center of innovation for life sciences and technology, and we are proud to serve and support these industries. Our Carlsbad attorneys have extensive experience in medical device and pharmaceutical product liability, intellectual property litigation, patent and trademark procurement and enforcement, and IP property portfolio management.

Our litigators are experienced in class action defense, consumer defense, professional liability defense, real estate, tort, product liability, employment law, and construction, including construction defect claims and construction-related personal injury matters. We also handle banking and finance, insurance coverage, bankruptcy, restructuring, insurance coverage, creditors' rights, and environmental and toxic tort.

Beyond legal services, the Carlsbad office offers a welcoming, community-oriented atmosphere. With its proximity to Carlsbad's business district and residential areas, the office maintains a close-knit feel while offering the resources and amenities of a larger office.
