In a city that is home to market leaders in business, construction, healthcare, energy, transportation, manufacturing, and financial services, GRSM's Dallas office has guided clients in legal disputes and new commercial opportunities since 2006. The Dallas office's team of skilled litigators and trial attorneys focuses on complex business, commercial, environmental and toxic tort, employment, construction, product liability, intellectual property, and class action litigation.

Our Dallas lawyers chair several of GRSM's national practice groups, including Bankruptcy, Environmental & Toxic Tort, and Technology Litigation. The diversity of our client base reflects the breadth of our knowledge: our clients range from national and international, Fortune 200 companies who frequently call upon our lawyers to serve as national trial counsel for high-risk litigation to small and mid-sized local companies that are firmly rooted in Texas.

As leaders in the profession, our lawyers are regularly recognized by Best Lawyers in America®, Super Lawyers®, and Rising Stars®. Our attorneys have received Best of the Bar, 40 Under 40, and Young Attorney awards and have the highest ratings from Martindale-Hubbell. A number of our lawyers, locally and across the firm, are members of the American Board of Trial Advocates and serve in leadership positions with the State Bar of Texas and the American Bar Association.

Our Dallas attorneys are active in and committed to the local community through their work with a variety of local charitable organizations, including Genesis Women’s Shelter, Jewish Family Services of Greater Dallas, the United Way of Metropolitan Dallas, Dallas Area Habitat for Humanity, and the Ronald McDonald House of Dallas. The Dallas team also works with and serves on the governing bodies of area civic, academic, charitable, religious, and other non-profit organizations.
