Our Denver office has been serving business clients throughout the Rocky Mountain region since opening in 2007. We are known as trusted trial lawyers, having tried more than 100 cases to verdict or judgment and serving as counsel of record in precedent-setting appellate cases. Our Denver attorneys are also known for leadership in the profession, including in diversity and mentorship.

Working closely with colleagues across our 50 state, full-service platform, our lawyers serve clients in key areas of litigation. These include professional liability, healthcare, bankruptcy, construction, employment, energy, government, securities, insurance, privacy, catastrophic injuries, mass torts, product liability, class actions, and commercial litigation.

We build longstanding working relationships with our clients, such as healthcare providers, financial institutions, insurance companies, manufacturers, law firms, and Colorado's largest utility company.

Many Denver attorneys attended law school in the area, giving our office a true local feel. Our team offers a variety of professional experiences. We are home to former law clerks and judicial interns in trial and appellate courts. We sit on judicial committees, have served as prosecutors, and have taught securities law at Sturm College of Law. We are also active presenters and authors on topical issues, such as ethics, trial strategy, and government investigations.

Our lawyers are involved in national, state, and local bar associations as past presidents, chairs, board members, committee chairs, and members. We are also elected members of the American Board of Trial Advocates and the American College of Trial Lawyers. The Denver office supports the law schools at the University of Denver and the University of Colorado, and we serve as coaches and judges for high school and law school mock trial competitions.

We are grateful for the honors and awards our Denver team has received for professional achievements and community-based commitments and are particularly proud of the recognition for diversity leadership from the Denver Bar Association and Colorado Bar Association.
