An active contributor to GRSM's full-service, 50 state platform, our Miami office benefits from longtime, local leadership who encourages professional excellence and community involvement. Our Miami Tower office opened in 2009 and is home to a team with extensive litigation and transactional experience.

Notable practice areas include personal and professional misconduct and liability claims, insurance coverage matters, employment liability defense, securities, construction, real estate, regulatory compliance, class actions, environmental and toxic tort, and appellate matters.

We appear in state and federal courts throughout Florida and the Southeast. Our Miami attorneys collaborate with colleagues along the East Coast in our representation of global corporations, directors and officers, associations, and nonprofit organizations, as well as national and regional companies.

Reflective of the city's rich diversity, our Miami attorneys include several native Floridians and professionals with a variety of backgrounds. On our Miami legal bench are a former chief judge in Florida's appellate courts, mediators and arbitrators, and advocates who have earned recognition for their leadership and achievements in bankruptcy and securities litigation.

In addition to litigation, our corporate attorneys provide general counsel, pre-litigation solutions, and transactional advice regarding regulatory matters, aviation and marine sales and compliance, operations, human resources, and products.

GRSM's Miami team contributes to advancing the legal profession and our communities. We are on the faculty of the National College of Justice, are leaders in bar associations, and serve on judicial committees and on the board of directors of Legal Services of Greater Miami. We support numerous civic and charitable causes, including the National Kidney Foundation of Florida, Habitat for Humanity, and Coral Gables Museum, as well as arts, literacy, and legal education programs in several counties.
