Like Nashville's extraordinary growth in recent years, GRSM has expanded in depth and breadth since opening our space in 2018. A diverse and talented legal bench of litigators and business attorneys is counsel to the city's leaders in healthcare, construction, trucking and transportation, hospitality, entertainment, and manufacturing, among other sectors.

Recent business press rankings placed us among the largest healthcare and litigation law firms in Nashville. From our base in the state's capital, our professionals cover Tennessee and play a strategic role in our 50 state platform across the South for clients with national litigation portfolios.

Our healthcare clients include physicians, nurses, hospitals, healthcare providers, and long-term care facilities. Our achievements in professional liability defense and medical malpractice claims are notable.

GRSM has a strong presence in the construction, trucking and transportation, and entertainment and sports sectors. We represent construction professionals, including architects, engineers, and contractors; trucking carriers, insurers, and others in the trucking and transportation sector; and athletes, artists, songwriters, managers, agents, influencers, and other creatives in transactional and litigation matters in the sports and entertainment sector. We also advise and represent clients in entertainment, media, retail, and hospitality, offering depth in intellectual property counsel and brand asset protection.

Our Tennessee team reflects Nashville's vibrant mix of homegrown talent and newer arrivals. While many of our attorneys have served in clerkships for judges across the state, many other team members are well-known and long-serving members of regional legal and business communities, serving as enthusiastic mentors to our associates and new attorneys.

GRSM's Tennessee team includes attorneys committed to contributing to Nashville and the State of Tennessee. Our attorneys have been lauded by the Tennessee State Supreme Court for their pro bono work, and we have also served on boards throughout Tennessee, including the Tennessee Department of Health. We have given back through leadership positions with Court-Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) and through participation in the Lawyers' Association for Women – Marion Griffin Chapter, Nashville Bar Association, Tennessee Bar Association, Memphis Bar Association, IADC, and other organizations.
