Proximity to the famed Research Triangle is among the many reasons our Raleigh office has thrived since its opening in 2013. Our legal teams here represent established institutions and facilities, as well as emerging companies. While our office is based in Raleigh, our attorneys practice in every county and federal court across the state, representing public and private clients in North Carolina and throughout the Southeast. Our North Carolina team makes vital contributions to our 50 state, full-service platform.

Our Raleigh office offers a deep bench of healthcare attorneys, with the experience necessary to provide a complete suite of services to the firm's healthcare clients—from licensing and regulatory compliance advice to transactional matters, and from startup counseling to malpractice and employment litigation.

Our North Carolina attorneys are also well-versed in construction, professional liability defense, product liability, insurance defense and coverage, environmental, toxic tort, and cyber, privacy & data security. GRSM clients in North Carolina have a range of commercial interests. We represent insurers, insureds, licensed professionals, employers, hospitals, and managed care organizations, among others. We also work with landowners and agribusiness clients across North Carolina and represent a fair share of property developers, contractors, design professionals, and manufacturers.

North Carolinians are proud of their roots, and many professionals are natives with ties to local communities that run generations deep. GRSM attorneys are recognized by Business North Carolina Magazine, Best Lawyers in America®, Super Lawyers®, and others for practice excellence. We lead local pro bono efforts and serve as members of the Wake County Bar Association and Mecklenburg County Bar Association. We also support the North Carolina Bar Association, North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys, and other local, state, and federal organizations that advance the legal profession and our communities.
