Our presence in Virginia's state capital furthers the reach of GRSM's 50 state platform and service to clients wherever they have legal needs. Our team here has deep local connections, with many of our attorneys having attended university and law school in the region. Our Richmond office focuses on estate and trust litigation (featuring the largest estate and trust litigation team in all of Virginia) business and commercial litigation, community associations (homeowners associations and condominium associations), employment, and bankruptcy law.

Our Richmond office works closely with our offices in Williamsburg and Alexandria, providing our clients with seamless legal representation throughout the Commonwealth.

Our Richmond attorneys also represent a wide array of insurance carriers, insured clients, and self-insured clients in the defense of various tort claims, including Section 1983 litigation, premises liability, trucking, product liability, professional liability, and consumer protection litigation. From our Richmond office, we also represent clients in the western part of the Commonwealth.

We also serve as outside general counsel to a wide array of businesses in the Richmond and Hampton Roads areas and throughout Virginia.

The office's attorneys have been featured in, or honored by, publications such as Best Lawyers in America®, Super Lawyers®, Chambers USA, Virginia Business Magazine, Virginia Lawyers Weekly, and Coastal Virginia

Magazine.

Our Richmond attorneys are very active in the local business, legal, civic, and charitable communities, participating in organizations such as the Richmond Bar Association, the Estate Planning Council of Richmond, the Trust Administrators Council of Richmond, the Virginia Association of Defense Attorneys, the Community Associations Institute, the University of Richmond Alumni Association, the National Asian Pacific American Bar Association (NAPABA) – Virginia chapter, the Legal Aid Justice Center, and several religious congregations.
